

Warning: Beware of Scams – the latest involves Property Titles

These title scams are becoming increasingly common and can have serious consequences. Scammers often target property owners by posing as legitimate entities to steal property titles.

Here are some key points to be aware of:

Unsolicited Offers: Be cautious of unsolicited offers to buy your property or assist with title issues. Verify the legitimacy of the offer and the entity making it.

Phishing Emails: Scammers may send emails that appear to be from legitimate organizations, asking for personal information or payment. Always verify the sender's known email address and contact the organization directly using official information.

Fake Documents: Scammers may create fake documents that look official. Always verify the authenticity of any documents related to your property with the appropriate authorities.

Pressure Tactics: Be wary of anyone who pressures you to act quickly. Scammers often use urgency to prevent you from thoroughly investigating their claims.

Protect Your Information: Keep your personal and property information secure. Avoid sharing sensitive information over the phone or online unless you are certain of the recipient's identity.

If you suspect you are being targeted by a title scam, contact your local authorities immediately. Stay vigilant and protect your property.
